Key Note Speakers and Presentations

Marrion Grobb Finkelstein – “FILL R UP” – Wednesday April 30th 1:35 p.m.

When was the last time you looked at your life and felt empty? Something was missing and you couldn't quite put your finger on what that something was. In this session, you will learn how to look at your life differently, how to appreciate what's happening (even if it's not great) and you'll gain secrets of how to best respond when your goals aren't met. More importantly, you'll discover that you already have what it takes to “fill 'er up” when ever increasing workplace challenges drain you dry. And here's the bonus – you can use each and every one of these strategies in your personal life too!

Brett Elmgren – “The Future of Organizational Learning” – Thursday May 1st 3:00 p.m.

This interactive session will take you on a journey into the past, present and future of organizational learning. This session will outline the ongoing evolution of corporate learning from a product created for learners, to a collaborative process involving learners. During this session you will gain an understanding as to how organizational learning is evolving and what learning and development may look like in the year 2020. Referencing cutting edge resources, this session will provide learners will new methods for creating collaborative formal, informal and social learning experiences.

Philip Jones – Plenary Presentation – Friday May 2nd – 11:00 a.m.

How to Fit a Heart Attack into Your Busy Schedule!

In this session, Philip will take a light hearted look at managing stress. Philip does not tell you what to do. No lectures, instead through storytelling, he encourages you to review your lifestyle choices, figure out how to deal more effectively with stress and make just one positive change to help you live a longer, healthier, more productive life.

Concurrent Sessions

Session #1 – “Facing the Chicken Within” – Marion Grobb Finkelstein

In this session, Marion will guide you in identifying your “fear triggers” what to do with them and how you can use them to improve communication. She’ll stretch you to imagine what you could do if your fear didn’t hold you back and she’ll help you get the tools to make that dream a reality.

Session #2 – “What you don’t know will hurt you” – Leslie Anderson

The first step in improving Aboriginal student achievement lies in a personal journey, in educating ourselves. By 2050, Saskatchewan’s population will be majority Aboriginal. Aboriginal student success is everybody’s issue. All school division staff has a role to play. In this session, you’ll hear the confessions of a well-educated white woman, and be challenged to change the face and future of this province.

Session #3 – “Mission Zero” – Catherine Fuchs

Mission: Zero

In this session you will be educated on Mission Zero. Mission Zero is an initiative to eliminate all injuries in Saskatchewan. Launched in 2008, the Mission: Zero campaign and programs drive home the effects of injuries and the importance of safety and injury prevention at home, work and play. The intent behind Mission: Zero is to bring about a significant reduction in the provincial injury rate.
